

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An insulating sheet is used in an electronic apparatus including a power supply board, a housing in which the power supply board is disposed, and a conductive bottom plate attached to the housing. The insulating sheet is disposed between the power supply board and the bottom plate. The insulating sheet includes an opening portion which allows air flowing from an air inlet to pass therethrough; and a guide portion erected in order to guide a harness disposed in the housing.